PRESS RELEASE

Arnall Golden Gregory Launches Healthcare Private Equity Industry Team

ATLANTA – Arnall Golden Gregory is pleased to announce the formal launch of a cross-practice initiative focused on private equity transactions involving the healthcare industry. The Healthcare Private Equity (HCPE) team is led by Atlanta partners Matt Brohm and Jeff Friedman. This team brings together the knowledge and experience of the firm’s healthcare regulatory and healthcare corporate attorneys, providing seamless and coordinated legal counsel to both buyers and sellers. AGG is ideally situated to work with private equity backed healthcare companies that require both competitive fee structures and nationally recognized healthcare regulatory expertise from a sophisticated corporate transaction team. As a trusted partner on strategic growth initiatives, AGG advised on more than 100 add-on acquisitions during 2018 alone.

"AGG's lawyers have the depth of experience where our healthcare private equity clients need us the most. As a midsize firm with a nationally recognized healthcare team, we are unique in our ability to provide a sophisticated, cost-effective and efficient healthcare transaction team to a multifaceted set of clients," said Matt Brohm, HCPE co-leader. This industry team was formed after surveying the extensive work AGG was handling in the healthcare industry and the clients the firm was serving. "When we assessed the spectrum of work we were handling for investment banks, private equity firms and other sources of equity to the healthcare industry, we recognized a need to formalize the firm’s investment in this area and double down on our strengths," added Jeff Friedman, HCPE co-leader.
