CHANGES IN MEDICAID INTEGRITY PROGRAM

The Medicaid Integrity Program (MIP) is now conducting activities in forty states, based on recent conversations with Robb Miller, Director of Field Operations for the Medicaid Integrity Group. In addition, Miller informed us that there will be additional outreach efforts to educate providers regarding the audit processes, with education contractors being asked to bid on task orders in the coming months. Miller added that providers who have undergone MIP audits for which there were no "significant" findings will receive a letter, informing them that the audits were completed with no adverse outcome. He added that there have been referrals to the OIG, based on some initial findings from contractors. In fact, as part of the MIP audits, there is a Memorandum of Understanding with the OIG so that in the event the contractor identifies an area of concern, OIG receives information and then decides within 60 days whether to intervene in the case. If the OIG fails to act within that 60 day period, the contractor finalizes the audits and issues notices under its protocol.

Mr. Miller indicated that in the coming year, his office and the education contractors will be presenting at national association meetings to educate providers about the programs. He also alerted us to changes in the MIP web page, indicating that the attached FAQ (click here) about the program will be posted there shortly.
